

Library visit #1 – Finding articles

Use the library and online periodical databases to find answers to the following questions. Please be sure to cite your specific source of information. You do not have to work completely by yourself today. Feel free to get help from the instructor, the librarian, or other people in the class.

1. Think of two major appliances in modern kitchens, for example the refrigerator and the microwave oven. Find the earliest primary source article you can that discusses this appliance.

- a. First appliance _____
Title of article and where you found it:

What is the basic point of the article?

- b. Second appliance _____
Title of article and where you found it:

What is the basic point of the article?

2. Consider the time period _____. Find an interesting article about a technology related to food preparation, storage or eating that was written during this time period that does not have to do with anything you found in question #1.

Article citation:

Why is this article interesting?

3. Finally, let's consider primary sources that are not text based. Use the library resources to find an image of a food-related appliance, or method of cooking or eating that was published before 1950.
Citation:

What is depicted in the image?
